The WVU School of Public Health 2022-2023 Dean’s Colloquium Series presents

TOTAL WORKER HEALTH®
STRATEGIES FOR THE FUTURE OF WORK

Friday, Dec. 2 | 12 p.m. to 1 p.m.
1905 HSC-North (Livestream option will also be available.)

Featuring:
L. Casey Chosewood, MD, MPH, serves as director of the Office for Total Worker Health® and associate director for strategic initiatives at the CDC’s National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health, promoting the protection and improvement of the safety, health, and well-being of workers through research, intervention development, and partnerships. Since 2018, he has also coordinated NIOSH’s work addressing the nation’s drug overdose epidemic and its broader mental health crisis. He co-leads the NIOSH cross-sector dedicated to Healthy Work Design and Wellbeing.

Chia-Chia Chang, MBA, MPH, is a coordinator in the CDC NIOSH Office for Total Worker Health® and the NIOSH Healthy Work Design and Well-Being Cross-Sector Program. She leads collaborations to share research and identify promising practices for advancing worker safety, health and well-being, and she guided the development of a worker well-being framework and the NIOSH Worker Well-Being Questionnaire (WellBQ). Her previous work in the NIOSH Office of the Director includes leading enrollment and outreach for the World Trade Center Health Program and serving as liaison to the National Advisory Committee on Occupational Safety and Health (NACOSH).

Learn more: publichealth.wvu.edu/about/deans-colloquium-series